ANGBLE 00 Now $2500 bargains

WHEN a store advertises a sale of coats marked down from $50 to $25 - that's a tangible bargain because you know exactly how much you will save when you buy one.

But there are intangible bargains, too. A telephone in the house costs but a few cents a day but over the telephone you can do some of your shopping and take quick advantage of merchants' offerings. Over the wire you may close a business deal worth many dollars, and the use of the telephone may save you a costly journey.

There are countless ways by which the telephone can aid in the saving of money - and in the making of it. Telephone service is an intangible bargain whose value is impossible to estimate.

Appreciation of this fact is back of our drive to provide service to all who desire it, as quickly as possible.

The Gibson girl look, in its 1948 version, promises to be the season's pretty favorite. Ruffles, smocking, peckline bows or cravats and lady-like standing collars share the turn-of-the century setting in these easy-towear styles of Celanese fabrics. One lovely blouse of Celanese rayon crepe softens the male heart by borrowing his collar and tie for Val lace-edged feminine counterparts.

Interest in these blouses is hardly centered in body alone: the sleeve comes in for its share, whether it be long with shoulder or cuff detail, three-quarter, or short.

Men Will Wear More Town Wear

DRESS-UP LOOK IS NOW CALLED FOR MORE OFTEN

Men will find that clothes designed especially for town wear have a more dressed-up look than for some time. Coats, suits and accessories are all styled with a marked formal note and are detailed with artfully subtle fabric patterns and tailoring construction. Guard model coats. Chesterfields and Homburg hats, worn with very conservative shirts, will be high fashion notes for urbanites.

In suits there is a tendency towards modified square shoulders- a straight-hanging back. The extra-full drape is gone. BIBS! Remember when a bib vas just a thing you tied nder a baby's chin? Well NOWADAYS we have drooling oibs, feeding bibs, absorbent oibs, waterproof bibs, nonnflammable bibs ing, but a bi and we'd have that at the Balling Baby Shop if I knew what a tucker is. The Ruffle-Ann bib really is something. It is washable, non-inflammable plastic. One style has a big catch-pocket so when little Archibald tries to push a whole bowl of food into his face it slides right down his tummy into the pocket, instead of all over the high chair and floor. You get wo different colored bibs in box for $1.25.

ANOTHER STYLE in the plastic line is made like Mother's apron, and it comes in two sizes, for babies 3 to 6. It's a dollar. The fancy little em-broidered Madeira bibs for more formal slobbering are $1 and $1.50. The famous Curity bibs, of the same material as Curity diapers are a two-way deal . . for both feeding and drooling occasions . . are 49c. If you like the soft, absorbent, washable knit terry kind, we have those too, 2 in a package for $1.

REMEMBER those seafoam knit suits for girls I made such a to-do about last week? You should hear the customers "oh" and "ah" about 'em! They're really different,

With snug bodices, shortand simple hairdos and softer, longer skirts, designers prescribe demure little bonnets. sailors and cloches for women of all ages. But especially for post-Easter afternoons and evenings, there is a nostalgic return to the frankly beautiful picture hat that so effectively balances the full, flowing skirt.

The subtle difference between the small, flowered hat of the new season and those seen earlier is its forward-moving line. Crowns continue to fit comfortably to the head and brims are narrower at the sides but extending forward from just above the hairline. At the nape, the brim is either turned up Watteau-fashion or cut away completely.

The profile-flattering side tilt in bonnets, toques and pillboxes is high on the hit parade of popular-priced hat fashions and will undoubtedly continue through the summer months. But even in their softly rippling picture hats, most of the name designers prefer the simple, straightforward pose of the headfitting round crown

The flowers and the flowertoned ribbons, straws, felts and veilings of this Easter season are exquisite. Pastels are beguiling. They may be deeptoned or the most delicate tints. Pinks, mauves, orchid and periwinkle blues are marvelously lovely and many bonnets are trimmed with silk roses, fragile lilac blossoms, honey-suckle and lilies of the valley.
